J. W. HAYDEN.

How Sealskin is Prepared.

Few of those wearing a sealskin sacque have any knowledge of the process by which the skins are prepared for use. Seen when first taken from the animal they little resemble the warm, glossy skins worn upon our streets, for until dyed and cured they are of a light brown hue, coarse and full of sand. Before becoming valuable they are shaved down on the flesh side until not thicker than paper, the long hairs are pulled out and the fur dyed. The cost of the article is due to the labor expended upon it. The raw skins are sold in London, where the finishing is done, and then shipped back to America, where they are sold with a heavy duty added. The killing season in Alaska begins about the 12th of June, and the one hundred thousand skins are usually ready for shipment a month later. The work of slaughtering the animal is done by natives who live upon the St. Paul and St. George Islands, and the process is an interesting one. When skins are wanted the natives go to the rookeries, station themselves along the shore between the seals and the water, and at a given signal, spring to their feet and make as much noise as possible. The frightened victims, timid as deer, then stampede up the beach, and are driven like sheep a few miles inland, until their captors attack them with hickory clubs. Being knocked senseless, they are stabbed with long, sharp knives, and the skins are quickly stripped from the bodies. The work is divided among the men—some knocking the seals down, others stabbing them and still others taking off the skins. The native Indians number about three hundred, and under the terms of the lease are provided gratis by the company with warm houses, sixty tons of coal, a doctor and a schoolmaster, salmon and other necessities and comforts. For their labor the men are paid some $40,000 altogether each season, a sum more than sufficient to meet the limited needs of life in a region of almost perpetual fog and utter isolation.—[San Francisco Chronicle.]

—One of the happiest men in New Orleans yesterday was Mr. John M. Moberly, Assistant Cashier of the Mercier National Bank of Harrodsburg, Ky. Mr. Moberly was the holder of one-fifth of ticket No. 68,980, which won the capital prize of $75,000 in the last drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery on Tuesday last.—[New Orleans paper.]

CURE FOR PILES.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, as flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm, is a very common attendant. Blind, bleeding and itching piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching and affecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Address the Dr. Bosanko Medicine Co., Piquette, Ohio. Sold by McRoberts & Stage.

RELIGIOUS.

—Rev. J. E. Triplett will preach at Kings Mountain on next Sabbath at 11 A. M., and at Smith's school-house at 2 P. M.

—The Thanksgiving service at the Christian church was well attended yesterday. Rev. F. S. Pollitt preached and Rev. I. S. McElroy assisted in the service.

The Latest Laughs.

Mr. Blaine thinks it was the weather. Why not lay it on the cat?—[Portland (Me.) Argus.]

Indeed, he laughs most heartily and properly who laughs with the most subsequence. Now is the time to laugh.—[Chicago Herald.]

We suspect Mr. Burchard of having acquired his fatal love of alliteration as the head-line editor of a Chicago newspaper.—[Philadelphia Press.]

It is said that when Arthur heard the news he laughed until he tore a new pair "pants." These great men will have their fun.—[Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution.]

The suggestion that Mr. Carl Schurz be made Postmaster General is no doubt prompted by his very successful handling of the Mulligan Letters.—[Chicago Times.]

The rooster has already retired from the journalistic field. Henceforth, until further notice, the turkey will be the royal bird of America.—[Philadelphia Press.]

The Rev. Dr. Burchard is personally one of the gentlest and most harmless of men. The banana, by the way, is the gentlest and most harmless of fruit, but it makes mischief when out of place.—[Philadelphia Call.]

Judging from the rate at which crematories are multiplying there will be a cremation candidate for President in 1888. Platform: "Burn this."—[Philadelphia Times.]

The scientific analysis of the process of dissolution, as made by Dr. Breadsleys, makes it clear whence comes this physical and mental etherization. The defects in nutrition lead to a devitalization of the blood and this generates carbonic acid. The poison of this gas, when it becomes fixed in the cells of the body, numbs the sensibility of the nerves, and this paralysis creeps on until it overcomes the farthest threads of sensation. During the "progress of this dissolution of the nerve force, this creeping on of the numbness of death, the individual is rapidly passing into a condition of repose, and instead of torture or pangs a degree of self-satisfaction off approaching to enthusiasm is realized."

THIS IDEA OF GOING WEST

to Colorado or New Mexico, for pure air to relieve Consumption, is all a mistake. Any reasonable man would use Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup for Consumption in all its first stages. It never fails to give relief in all cases of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Pains in the Chest and all affections that are considered primary to Consumption. Price, 50 cents and $1.00. Sold by McRoberts & Stage.

Changes of a Century.

The nineteenth century has witnessed many and very great discoveries and changes.

In 1809 Fulton took out his first patent for the invention of a steamboat.

The first steamships which made regular trips across the Atlantic Ocean were the Sirius and Great Western in 1830.

The first public application to practical use of gas for illumination was made in 1802.

In 1813 the streets of London were for the first time lighted with gas.

In 1813 there was built in Waltham, Mass., a mill, believed to have been the first in the world, which combined all the requirements for making finished cloth from the raw cotton.

In 1790 there were only twenty-five post-offices in the whole country, and up to 1837 the rate of postage was 25 cents for a letter sent over 400 miles.

In 1807 wooden clocks began to be made by machinery. This ushered in the era of cheap clocks.

About the year 1833 the first railroad of any considerable length in the United States was constructed.

In 1840 the experiments in photography were made by Daguerre.

About 1840 the first express business was established.

The anthracite coal business may be said to have begun in 1820.

In 1836 the patent for the invention of matches was granted.

Steel pens were introduced for use in 1803.

The first successful trial of a reaper took place in 1833.

The first successful method of making vulcanized India rubber was patented in 1839.

In Formosa there is not much sickness, but when a man is ill they string him up by the neck and let him down quickly. This generally kills or cures him, and if the former, his death is celebrated by a general spree. At twenty-one a young man is provided with a wife, but until the age of forty he must not visit her openly. He may do so stealthily, however, and if he doesn't like her he can get a divorce in about ten minutes. A man often marries four or five times a year. No children born before the mother has reached thirty-seven are in any case permitted to live.

One Bottle Instead of a Dozen.

"And it took only one bottle to do it," said a gentleman, speaking of Parker's Hair Balsam. I had a run of fever and when I got well of that my hair began to fall out so fast as to alarm me. I really didn't know what to do until one day a friend said, 'Try Parker's Hair Balsam.' What surprised me was the fact that one bottle was enough. I expected to use up a dozen." Clean, highly perfumed, not oily, not a dye. Restores original color.

Advice to a Girl.

If he is well behaved and industrious, take him. His salary is not large, but if all the girls in the country waited till their sweethearts got large salaries marriage would be too much restricted for the safety of society. Every girl who marries is obliged to take some chances. If she gets a good husband it is the main thing. If he is a good husband he is a good man, and if he is a good man he will probably get along in the world. There are some good men who do not get along, but they are good for nothing. As to the difference of belief, that is a thing that old and very religious people sometimes trouble themselves a great deal about, but young people generally agree to call it even and think and talk about matters of more immediate and personal interest. The chief condition of a happy and successful marriage is a strong mutual love. This given, all else would be itself to the union, and both husband and wife start out well armed for all the conflicts of life. If any young lady really wants to marry and believes that he is the right sort of a fellow, I should say she ought to accept.—[New York World.]

Every one knows the story of a gentleman's asking Lord North who "that frightful woman was," and his lordship's answering, "That is my wife." The other, to repair the blunder, said, "I did not mean her but that monster next to her." "Oh," said Lord North, "that monster is my daughter." With this story Frederick Robinson, in his usual absent, enthusiastic way, was one day entertaining a lady whom he sat next to at dinner, and let the lady was Lady Charlotte Lindsay—the monster in question.—[London Standard.]

Of the 41 democrats who voted with the republicans against the Morrison Bill, 22 have been left at home by the late election and 19 re-elected. The republicans who voted for the bill have all been re-elected. The four republicans who voted for the bill have been re-elected; while of the 41 democrats who voted for the measure, 91 or 60 per cent. are re-elected; while of the 41 who voted against it, only 10 or 40 per cent. are re-elected. The facts are significant.—[St. Louis Republican.]

W. P. WALTON.

GEN. SHERMAN, having cowardly attacked a man when he is down by saying: "Jeff Davis was not a secessionist. He was a conspirator. I have seen a letter from Jefferson Davis to a man whose name I cannot mention, because he is a United States Senator. In that letter he said he would turn Lee's army against any State that might secede from the Southern Confederacy." Mr. Davis writes a letter to the republican in which he says: "This public assault under the covert plea that it is based upon information, which regard for a United States Senator does not permit him to present, will to honorable minds, suggest the idea of irresponsible slander." He continues to say that the allegation of his ever having written such a letter as is described is unqualifiedly false, and the assertion that he had any purpose or wish to destroy the liberty and equal rights of any State either North or South, is a reckless, shameless falsehood. He concludes: "If Gen. Sherman has access to any letters purporting to have been written by me which will sustain his accusations, let him produce them or bear the brand of a base slanderer."

It is exceedingly strange how some men come to their deaths. For instance, we read in yesterday's paper that a couple of brothers went down hunting near Hamilton, W. Va., and becoming tired built a fire against a large tree and went to sleep. The tree burned off and falling across them they were instantly killed. In Arkansas, a farmer named Julius Rabb, it is said, was instantly killed by a meteor which descended through a tall tree, cutting the limb off and then passing through Rabb's body from the shoulders obliquely and buried itself in the earth. It was dug up and found to be composed of iron pyrites of the size of a teacup. The dispatch states that great alarm is felt over the matter and people are looking for caves in which to hide their heads from this new danger.

We fear that it will be some time before the Chesapeake & Nashville R. R. is built. Mr. Huntington told the Owensboro Messenger that "Just at present the outlook for building new railroads is unpromising, and especially so in Kentucky, where, through the Legislature and Railroad Commission, that kind of property has been threatened with unjust discrimination and arbitrary interference. It is quite evident to me that so long as these burdensome statutes remain, and the temper of legislation is hostile to railroads, it will be necessary for the people of Kentucky to expect less assistance from Eastern capital, and to put more of their own money into these enterprises if they desire to have more railroads."

KENTUCKY did not do her full duty for Cleveland and does not deserve much in the disposition of the "spoils." She only gave him 2,312 votes more than she did Hancock, which is much less than the natural increase in four years. His vote was 5,933 less than Tilden's in 1876. On the other hand, the republicans gave Blaine 11,900 more votes than Garfield, whose vote was previously the highest ever received by a republican in this State. Cleveland's majority over Blaine is 34,083.

THANKSGIVING day originated with the New England Christians who set aside one day in each year to give thanks to God for his continued blessings. Since 1862, the 4th Thursday in each November has been appointed by Presidential proclamation as a day of Thanksgiving. A few go to church and actually give thanks but the majority of people scuffle around to secure a big dinner, with turkey as the leading dish.

ONE sad effect of a change in administration is the resurrection of the old political corpses all over the country and in Kentucky especially. Old hacks whom everybody thought were dead and probably it would be best if they were, are bobbing serenely up everywhere, calling for anything from a cross-road postoffice to a district collectship of internal revenue. Verily it is a day of resurrection.

It is foolish enough to bet money on the elections, but it is absolutely disgusting to read of some of the curious freaks of betters that now appear daily in the papers. The old wheelbarrow act comes in for its full share of the business, but perhaps the worst feeling fool is he who bet on Blaine and in consequence has had to have his hair and eyebrows shaved off.

PRESIDENT JEWETT, of the N. Y., L. E. & W. R. R. who has been getting $40,000 for ten years has resigned. Brother Jewett is evidently no hog, for he seems to know when he has enough.

The Court of Appeals has sustained the decision granting $300 to Mrs. Caldwell, from the Louisville Commercial because it said she had named her twins Geo. O. Barnes and Jesus Christ.

Hon. W. A. Pledger, colored, Chairman, has called a meeting of the Colored National Committee at New Orleans, Dec. 17, to consider the situation of the colored people under the Democratic party.

Some thirty five or forty of our citizens were served with warrants last week for neglecting to pay the required dog tax of $1.50. The fines and costs ran from $8 to $10 in each case. [Richmond Herald.]

The Courier-Journal has sent a special representative to the plague cursed region of Virginia and Kentucky and he finds that while the reports are very much exaggerated the state of affairs is wretched. The number of deaths is appalling.

The following is a table of the official vote in the 8th District. It has been a long time coming but we give it as soon as it was reported to Frankfort:

COUNTIES.	Cleveland	Blaine	Butler	St. John	McCreary	Sebastian
Anderson	1119	612	0	21	1139	604
Boyle	1239	1234	12	47	1292	1283
Garrard	1069	1056	3	28	1030	1068
Jackson	259	456	3	21	292	662
Jessamine	1182	971	1	5	1187	921
Laurel	824	1045	1	21	846	1047
Lincoln	1377	1078	6	65	1442	1079
Madison	2268	2106	3	33	2308	2083
Mercer	1496	1161	16	55	1501	1169
Owsley	224	588	5	17	238	588
Rockcastle	628	905	10	17	738	948
Shelby	1892	1228	10	37	1971	1174
Spencer	870	838	0	6

This table shows that Cleveland's total vote in the district is 14,559 and Blaine's 13,028, a majority for Cleveland of 1,531 and a gain over Hancock of 453, which shows that the Eighth did her duty if the balance of the State lagged behind. St. John received 361 votes and Butler 68. Assuming that the vote for McCreary and Sebastian are the same as that received by Cleveland and Blaine in Spencer and Owsley counties, (the rest are official) McCreary's majority is 2,086, a gain over Thompson two years ago of 1,219.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

—Blaine's plurality in Michigan is 2,946.

—South Carolina gave Cleveland a plurality of 48,157.

—The official democratic plurality in Indiana is 6,447.

—A handsome monument of the late Bishop Kavanaugh is being erected at Cave Hill Cemetery.

—Sanford Egbert was fatally stabbed with a butcher-knife by Thomas Dobson, colored, at Frankfort.

—The House of Representatives of Vermont defeated the local option liquor license bill—123 to 72.

—The annual report of the Controller of the currency shows that there are 2,671 National banks in existence.

—A six-year-old child of Henry Gilbert, in Jessamine, caught fire from an open grate and burned to death.

—William Baker, a mountain desperado, had his intestines cut out at Jellico, Wednesday. It is hoped that he will die.

—The official vote of this State is: Cleveland, 152,757; Blaine, 118,674; Butler, 1,655; St. John, 3,106. Democratic majority over all, 29,322.

—Last Monday evening fifty masked men entered the jail at Montague, Texas, by breaking down the door and released all the prisoners, twelve in number.

—The Alabama Legislature re-elected James L. Pugh to the United States Senate. He received the unanimous vote in the House and all but one in the Senate.

—Parson Hicks, who furnished Christian consolation to Guitau and inherited his effects, has been appointed Surveyor-General of Florida by President Arthur.

—President Arthur has done the handsome thing in inviting Mr. Cleveland to make the White House his home while preparing for the ceremonies of inauguration.

—The following gives the names of the States that have supplied the Presidents, and the number of years each has had this honor: Virginia, 36 years; Massachusetts, 8; Tennessee, 16; New York, 104; Ohio, 43; Louisiana, 1; New Hampshire, 4; Pennsylvania, 4; Illinois, 12; total (1789 to 1885) 96.

—W. W. Crawford, Chesapeake & Ohio brakeman, formally wedded Miss Kate McCann at Lexington, Ky., Monday night. When telegraphed, owing to suspicious rumors, Columbus Chief of Police answered that Crawford's legal wife is in Ohio's capital, and the railroader will be tried for bigamy.

—The official registers of the Government show that there are 12,717 civilian employees of the General Government at Washington attached to the various Executive departments, to the Government Printing-office and several commissions of bureaus not directly responsible to any one department. Of this number 5,840 are clerks, drawing salaries ranging from $900 to $1,800. The remainder includes officers appointed by the President, chief clerks and others, whose salaries exceed $1,800 per annum and persons receiving salaries ranging from $900 to $1,800.

WILLOW GROVE.

—Spears Fisher was given a delightful (?) charavari on Tuesday night. His bride is a handsome lady and it is said looks too young to be the wife of a man 53 years of age.

—Mrs. J. S. Hundley nee Miss Laura Engleman, who has been dangerously ill for some weeks, incident to child-birth, is a little better at this writing. Miss Emma Dodd, whose leg was broken just below the knee by a runaway horse, several weeks since, has been in a rather precarious condition but is slowly improving. Miss Ruth DePauw is teaching school for Miss Emma at Willow Grove during her illness.

—In a conversation with a Lancaster lawyer the other day he told me that Judge M. H. Owsley, Editor M. D. Hughes and Cashier Joe. P. Sandifer were all quite anxious to stand in Col. W. J. Landrum's shoes, or in other words they are desirous of filling the Revenue office he now holds and that the chances to win were in Sandifer's favor. Hughes is the man, it will be remembered, who refused to ante up when the republicans called on him to do so while he was watching a still-house some time since, but he would probably be willing to promote the cause of democracy by so doing. Taking the habits of these gentlemen into consideration, it can be said that an office of that kind would suit part of the crowd really well. SRETAW.

GARRARD COUNTY DEPARTMENT.

Lancaster.

—The democrats did have something to be thankful for this year, but what about the other fellows?

—Preparations for the Leap Year Party at Franklin Institute, last night, indicated that it would be a grand success.

—Rus. Anderson, alias "Agent," a democratic negro, died very suddenly last week. A local subscription furnished funds for his decent interment.

—The citizens of Lancaster will make every effort to have the Collector's Office kept here. The town will also furnish several applicants for the collectorship.

—The brick masons began work Wednesday morning on Col. W. S. Miller's new hotel. This Hotel when completed will be one of the prettiest in Central Kentucky.

—Took Hubble, who is reported to have lost $500,000 on Blaine in the recent battle of the ballots, is making a lively deal in cattle and hogs trying to retrieve his shattered fortune.

—Mr. W. Burdette, whose drug store at this place was closed recently by his creditors, will probably in a short time go to Texas to live. He is a good druggist and a clever gentleman. Lancaster will miss him.

—The residence of B. M. Bardett on Danville street was sold at public auction on Wednesday by Col. J. W. Poor, Trustee, and was bought by H. C. Kauffman for $3,000. The purchase is considered a bargain.

—The lecture of Rev. Mr. Goodloe on "Robert Burns" delivered to the pupils of Garrard Female College on last Friday evening at the Presbyterian church is said by those who heard it to have been of the highest interest.

—The handling of the tobacco crop is causing considerable stir. Several city warehouses have sent agents to this county.

—Mr. R. P. Hare, representing the Falls City Tobacco Warehouse, was here several days this week: Mr. S. A. Walton is the only local purchaser.

—Mr. H. C. Kauffman has moved his law office into the new Higginbotham building, N. W. corner of Public Square. Messrs. Palmer & Leavell will occupy the commodious store room in the new Higginbotham building with a hardware store.

—Applicants for the Postoffice are quite numerous and belong to both sexes. The salary is $1,000 per year. The term of Col. Anderson, the present incumbent, will not expire until Oct. 14, 1895. It is doubtful if his successor will make a better Postmaster.

—R. R. West and family have quit house-keeping and taken rooms at Mrs. Durant's. Joel Walker moved into the premises vacated by Mr. West. Capt. Ben. F. Hudson takes possession of the Walker farm recently purchased by him. Mrs. J. C. Humber has moved to the Hudson property.

—Positively the largest stock of Diamonds, Watches, Jewelry, Silverware and Musical Instruments of any house in Kentucky. I have the largest stock and can make you lower prices than any other house. For every $1 worth of goods you buy from now till Jan. 1st, you get chance free in a $200 Mandoline Musical Box with 16 inch cylinder. Remember the place J. C. Thompson's Jewelry House, opposite post-office, Lancaster, Ky.

—Mrs. Maria Granger has returned from New York and is at Judge Owsley's. Mr. John H. Woodcock is killing bears and deer in Pulaski. Mr. H. T. Logan will leave for Cincinnati in a short time to accept a position as drummer for a wholesale house. Miss Mary Annie Wilmore, of Nicholasville, is visiting Miss Mamie Olds. Chas. M. Randall, of London, Ky., was down on business this week. Aleck Davis, formerly in business here, was now traveling for a Cincinnati firm was here Thursday. Miss Allie Dunn, of Richmond, is visiting friends here. W. R. Marrs has gotten back from the West and will go in business here with his father. Mr. A. H. Rice, who has been in the grocery business at Danville, and Mr. W. L. Withers, of his place, have purchased of R. S. Haselden his stock of hardware and will occupy his new building.

MT. VERNON DEPARTMENT.

Managed by Jno. B. Fish.

—James Mincks is preparing to open up a barber shop at this place.

—Wild ducks are beginning to make their appearance on the creeks and ponds in this vicinity.

—The young ladies of this place are arranging to have some necessary improvements made on the interior of the church.

—Jack Adams, Jr., is able to be at his store this morning. Mr. M. R. Moore is getting around again after a sickness of about 3 weeks.

—Willis Adams, Sr., of Paint Lick was in town yesterday. Miss May Adams was up from Stanford this week. Miss Maggie Spradlin is home from Bell Seminary till after Thanksgiving. Miss Delta Heartick, of Louisville, is visiting Miss Kate Stuart of this place.

—The man who tried to take a free ride on the K. C. train at Livingston last Saturday, is still in jail at this place. He says that it was another "feller" who ran the cars off the track. He was taken down to Livingston for trial Monday, but some of his witnesses were absent and his examination was put off until Friday.

—From the present till Dec. 1st there will be several removals in our town. Mr. Jas. I. White has moved to the country to the farm recently owned by Colby Hays. Mr. J. S. Reppert's family will occupy the house vacated by Mr. White. J. W. Brown will move to the property which Mr. Reppert leaves. Mr. C. W. Adams has rented his property to C. W. Ping.

The Buell stock is tanned by the old-fashioned long time cold liquor process, thereby producing soft and pleasant wearing material. Any method that will tan stock in ten to thirty days in order to make it cheap will unavoidably destroy its life, and when the oil used in dressing evaporates the leather becomes hard and brittle. A single thought should convince you that notwithstanding the difference in price, you can better afford to buy BUELL'S BOOTS AND SHOES.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[To the Editor of the Interior Journal].
WASHINGTON, Nov. 23, 1884.—Washington is beginning to fill up rapidly with strangers—the best indication of the near approach of the "season" which begins on the first Monday in December, when the gavel will fall in the Capitol and Congress will take up its duties once more. There is no city of considerable size in the world, I suppose, where the presence of outsiders is as noticeable as in Washington. You can never mistake a native, or any one who has a length of time fallen under the seductive influences of the city. The true Washingtonian whether by birth or adoption, is never in a hurry. You can tell one by the lazy, self possessed manner in which he strolls along, as if he had no where in particular to go, or if he has he is not in the slightest hurry to get there. So, when a stranger from a commercial city reaches Washington, his brisk walk makes him a marked man. It is such specimens of activity as this who now abound in Washington, and these strangers make the heart of the hotel and boarding house keeper glad.
Mr. Blaine will be in Washington within a week or so. He has taken Ex-Secretary Windom's house on Massachusetts Avenue and will occupy it during the winter. It is announced that he will now finish his history. Beyond this nothing is known, though a multitude of rumors are in circulation. Among these is one that he will be a candidate for the Senate in Pennsylvania. This is hardly possible, and there seems to be nothing beyond the fact of his great personal popularity among the Keystone Republicans to give ground for the report.
The best judges here agree that the coming Congress will not do much besides attending to the necessary appropriation bills. Others, however, assert and that the tariff question will be agitated and another bill for the reduction of duties will be brought in. 'T is not improbable that something may be done with pending land grant forfeiture bills. The bill to prohibit the importation of foreign labor, which went over in the Senate last year under considerable protest, may also claim attention, and among the members of the House now in town, there is a belief that the educational bill ought to be reported this winter.
There is a very general talk here now of the necessity of a rebuilding of the Navy. In the past the republicans have favored this, but liberal appropriations have been prevented by the unwillingness of the Democrats to trust the expenditure of such large amounts to a republican administration. This objection will now be removed, and many Naval officials say that there is at least a bright prospect that our Navy may become a practicable defense in case of war, instead of, as at present, merely a subject for humorous paragraphs.
The Patent Office, which has suffered much from the ignorance of the members of Congress as to its necessities, stands a good chance for better treatment by the Forty-ninth Congress, of which the Hon. Benj. Butterworth, now Commissioner of Patents, will be a member. The force of examiners and the clerical force in this bureau is entirely inadequate to cope with the flood of applications constantly pouring in upon it, and as a consequence the work is far behind in many of the classes. In some cases an inventor is compelled to wait eight months for action on his application. It is almost criminal on the part of Congress that such a condition of affairs should exist in a bureau that is not only self-sustaining, but is a source of considerable revenue to the Government. Mr. Butterworth is acquainted with every need of the Government, and it is generally understood that his first efforts will be directed towards securing fairer treatment for the Patent Office.

The report that Rube Conkling might possibly be elected Senator from New York by a coalition of democrats and stalwarts was received with a good deal of interest in Washington, where he has many friends and also many enemies. The prospect of this occurring has however faded very considerably during the last few days, and it is now considered a long way from probable.
The citizens of Washington have already begun to make arrangements for the inaugural ceremonies. Great preparations are also being made for the dedicating of Washington Monument, which will occur on February 22. The hotel keepers say that the applications for rooms for the last of February and the first of March is something entirely unprecedented.
The President continues to lead a very quiet life and will be busy another week on his message. Until that is completed there will not be much that is of interest to the general public in the life at the White House.

—Judge A. G. Rhea, of Russellville, is dead.

Easy to See Through.

How can a watch—no matter how costly—be expected to go when the mainspring would operate? How can any one be well when his stomach, liver or kidneys are out of order? Of course you say, "He can not." Yet thousands of people drag along miserably in that condition; not tickled about, but not able to work with comfort and energy. How foolish, when a bottle or two of Parker's Tonic would set them straight. Try it, and get back your health and spirits.

Miss Astor's Bridal Dress.
Miss Carrie Astor's wedding dress is thus described: Her dress was the crowning creation of Worth's. The material of the train and corsage was white satin, wrought with threads of silver in heavy broadcated figures, and the effect is that of chased or engraved silver. The front of the dress is covered with sprays of orange blossoms, first forming a crescent from the left hip to the lower right hand corner of the skirt, and thickly strewn between artistic clusters of the same dainty spotless flowers. These buds are made of wax, but were so perfectly similar to the natural flower that it was impossible to detect it. The upper part of the dress was also of the silver broadcated satin, fitting closely over the shoulders to the neck in the back and cut out low and square in front. This space was filled in with fine point lace, daintily frilled and caught with orange blossoms. The sleeves, also of the broadcated, reached to the elbow, where they were finished with deep full plaits of point lace. At the shoulder the sleeves were puffed with plain white satin inserted from slits in the broadcated. The bottom of the corsage, which was without other ornament, was slightly draped at the back and finished in points. The train, which was full three yards long, fell in double box plaits from the belt and presented the appearance of two glittering, graceful folds of silver drapery. The veil, purchased in Europe especially for Miss Astor, is one of the finest pieces of Brussels point lace ever wrought by the needle. It was fastened to the hair with flashing diamond stars and clusters of orange blossoms and fell nearly the entire length of the train. The bridal bouquet was a loose bunch of white orchids tied with wide satin ribbon.

Rules for Winter.

Never lean with the back upon anything that is cold.
Never begin a journey until the breakfast has been eaten.
Never take warm drinks and then immediately go out in the cold air.
Keep the back—especially between the shoulder blades—well covered; also the chest well protected. In sleeping in a cold room establish the habit of breathing through the nose and not with the mouth open.
Never go to bed with cold or damp feet.
Never omit regular bathing, for unless the skin is in active condition, the cold will close the pores and favor congestion or other diseases.
After exercise of any kind never ride in an open carriage or near the window of a car for a moment; it is dangerous to health and even to life.
When hoarse speak as little as possible until the hoarseness is recovered from, else the voice may be permanently lost or difficulties of the throat be produced.
Merely warm the back by the fire and never continue keeping the back exposed to heat after it has become comfortably warm. To do otherwise is debilitating.
When going from a warm atmosphere into a colder one, keep the mouth closed so that the air may be warmed by its passage through the nose ere it reaches the lungs.
Never stand still in cold weather, especially after having taken a slight degree of exercise; and always avoid standing on ice or snow, or where the person is exposed to a cold wind. —[Farm and Fireside.

FATTENING HOGS WITH CORN.—Corn is so cheaply raised in this country that it has become the principal food of swine. While it is no doubt the cheapest food and the best also for producing an excellent quality of pork, it is nevertheless questionable if an exclusive diet of corn is as healthful as a mixed one, composed of corn and other kinds of grain, vegetables and grass. The swine plague has frequently been attributed to an exclusive diet of corn and we are inclined to think there is something in this theory, for a number of Western farmers have reported their success in keeping their swine healthy and free from all disease by feeding roots ground feed and soft feed of various kinds along with the corn when fattening their hogs in the fall. There can be no doubt of the fact that swine, as well as all other domesticated animals require a variety of food to keep them healthy. —[New York Sun.

NATURAL MUCILAGE.—Mr. Samuel Miller has been using peach and plum gum mucilage all summer and finds it "answers the purpose first rate." It is prepared simply by dissolving the lumps in water and he tells the Rural World there were times after rainy weather, when pounds of the exudation could be gathered from his trees. He is of opinion also that if this same juice was clarified, and while in the soft state sweetened with pure sugar and a little spice, it would be much better to eat than the pernicious stuff sold by confectioners as gum drops which are, no doubt made of some animal oil, and doctored up with chemicals, which should have gone to the glue pot at the start.

I am surprised that no mention has been made in the numerous notices on Sir Montefiore of an act which did him the highest honor. Many years ago, owing to circumstances over which he had no control, he failed in business. Having subsequently made money he called together all his creditors and presented them with the amounts due to them, with interest at the rate of five per cent. calculated from the day on which the debt was incurred. —[London Truth.

The American Dairyman insists that if the dairyman wants to make a first-class article of butter he must churn often. Never let the cream get over three days old, no matter how cold it may be kept. If cold it will get old, flat and frisky. If sour, the whey will eat up the best butter globules. Churn as often as you can.

Origin of the "Rooster."
"Why, when and where was the rooster adopted as the emblem of democracy?" The question quoted above and addressed to the editor of the Enquirer has been asked a thousand times in the last week. It has been suggested, no doubt, by the great popularity of the bird since the 4th day of November. The question has been answered before, but for the benefit of those who do not understand the situation it can be answered again. In 1842, after the Harrison campaign, there was great doubt as to how Indiana had cast her vote. The situation was similar to that in New York today in every respect. An editor named Chapman conducted the democratic newspaper at Indianapolis, and as often the case in boasting over a victory his editorial rejoicing over the result was termed "crowing." In a day or two, when some of the back counties were heard from, it seemed his crowing had been premature, and the whig organ came out giving late returns showing democratic defeat, and in the headline was the expression,
"Crow, Chapman, crow."

This was intended as a taunt, and must have been felt, for a few more counties yet to hear from again turned the tables, and showed that the democrats had won. It was then that the rival editor hoisted at the head of his columns a magnificent rooster and printed underneath it the words, "We Crow."
It made a palpable hit. The passion for roosters spread, and from that day to this the bird immortalized by the Hoosier editor has been the emblem of democratic success.

"Yes"

A little rain, the sun again, a shadow; a summer day, some new-mown hay, a meadow.
A girlish face, a matchless grace, and beauty; we spend the day in making hay, sweet duty.
Some fading flowers, some happy hours, but fleeting; a week of rain, and then again a meeting.
One quick shy look, a rippling brook, some clover; a sky of gold, the story old, a lover.
A fair, sweet maid, a short word said; what is it? I try my fate, and not too late to miss it.
The years have gone, and still loves on that lover; he loves always, as days and days pass over.
A loving wife, a long, long life together, have made him bless that shy, sweet "Yes, forever." —[Chambers' Journal.

A number of people are writing to the World to know what would happen if the President and Vice-President elect should die before the 4th of March next. If Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Hendricks should die before the meeting of the Electoral College that body would elect a President and Vice-President. As a matter of fact there is no such thing as a President-elect or Vice-President-elect at this writing. The people have expressed a preference for Cleveland and Hendricks and when the Electors meet in December these gentlemen will be chosen President and Vice-President. Should both die before inauguration the President of the Senate would fill the office of President until next November, when another election would be held.

CARLYLE ON THE PIANO NUISANCE.—I recommend the following passage in "Carlyle's life" to those young pests who, without a real notion of music, make the air around them hideous by the everlasting strumming on a piano. "The miserable young woman in the next house to me spends all her young bright days, not in learning to darn stockings, sew skirts, bake pastry or any art, mystery or business that will profit herself or others; not even in amusing herself or skipping on the grass plots with laughter of her mates, but simply and solely in raging from dawn to dark, from night to midnight, on a hapless piano which it is evident she will never in this world render more musical than a pair of barn clappers! The miserable young female!" —[London Truth.

The Louisville Post tells the following story: About the close of the war Jesse Small, Hart country, Ky., farmer, and Rebecca Woodson, the belle of the country side, full of sympathy with the lost cause, agreed not to marry—though their troth had been plighted before the war—until the democratic cause should triumph over the party which was then ascendant. They wanted each other badly, but stuck nobly to this resolution, until last week, when conditions political made their wedding possible, and the rites were duly celebrated at Louisville. Jesse is now 41 and Rebecca 39.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE
ILLUSTRATED.
With the new volume, beginning in December, Harper's Magazine will conclude its thirty-fifth year. The oldest periodical of its type, it is yet in each new volume a new Magazine, not simply because it presents fresh subjects, but also and chiefly because it steadily advances in the method itself of magazine-making. In a word, the Magazine becomes more and more the faithful mirror of current life and movement. Leading features in the attractive programme for 1885 are: New serial novels by Constance Fenimore Woolson and W. D. Howells; a new novel entitled "At the Red Glove," descriptive illustrated papers by F. D. Miller, H. Swain Gifford, E. A. Abbey, H. H. Henshaw, and others; Goldsmith's "80 Stoops to conquer," illustrated by Abbey; important papers on Art, Science, &c.
